

Report by the IMU-CDC on the division of applications and grants for the ICM2022
Chebyshev Program into different world regions. March 28, 2020

IMU-CDC has studied the question raised by Saint Petersburg ICM2022 Local Organiser Committee on how to distribute the 1,000 travel and lodging grants of the Chebyshev Program into geographical regions. Taking into account the data available from the NANUM Program in Seoul ICM2014, Open Arms Program of Rio ICM2022 and other previous CDC support programs, CDC has agreed to propose

A) The division of the Selection Committee into 6 panels corresponding to the following regions:

1. Africa
2. Northeastern Asia (China would be here)
3. Southeastern Asia & Pacific (India would be here)
4. Western Asia (The East boundary of the region is the union of the West boundaries of China and India.)
5. Eastern Europe
6. Latin America

For the list of developing countries included in each region see the Annex.

B) For the distribution of grants the decision has been to allocate 150 grants to each panel and to distribute the remainder 100 grants (once the application closed) in proportion to the number of applications with the provision that at least 50 of these 100 grants will be distributed among Africa, Eastern Europe and Latin America.

Olga Gil-Medrano
IMU-CDC Secretary for Policy
