

ICM2022 Chebyshev Grants: Some comments on logistic problems that came up in previous ICM's in respect to travel grants for mathematicians in developing countries.
IMU-CDC, July 15, 2020

CDC members recognize the great effort made by all previous ICM's local organisers to manage the big number of travel grants. Nevertheless we have identified some problems reported by previous awardees that we list in the hope that this information could be useful to LOC managing of Chebyshev Grants.

1. The positive decision was communicated too late for the awardees obtaining their visa.
2. It was compulsory for awardees to complete the inscription process and pay the fees, but afterwards they were not able to obtain the complementary funds needed from their side and it was impossible for them neither to attend nor to get fees reimbursement.
3. The process designed for the awardees to cash their grants upon registration collapsed and they queued for hours.
